Church life

In the last five years, I have been able to work very closely with women from different nations, cultures, and fields of society. This has allowed me to come to the conclusion that each women, regardless of her background, wants to write the best story

Our Pastors

Church is not just a building but people who love God and the people around them. We preach the gospel and the message of the cross.

The church is the light of this world. Our desire is to lead each member to have a genuine encounter with Jesus and to become a leader.
